Rain Prevented Game With Lincoln Tigers Wednesday.

Many Postponed Engagements Worry the Club Owners.

The weather man was at his regular daily sprinkling task again Wednesday afternoon at the hour for calling the ball game, and as a result there was no game. However, to keep the schedule as nearly up to date as possible, Owners Jones and Savage agreed upon a doubleheader for this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

The players were all out on the field and "warmed up" and they were not sent to the club house until the last minute, as the bosses were anxious to get the game played regadless of the fact that there was nobody out to see it.

Umpire Myers was certain that it would not rain. "You can take it from me," he said, "it never rains where I am working. They have had more postponed games in the league this senson than was ever known before, but it has never rained where I was. Every other umpire has had his days when all he had to do was to sit and rest, but there's been no rest for Dutch, and there won't be any." Dutch, and there won't be any." Hunch Was Wrong.

Hunch Was Wrong.

However, Mr. Myers's hunch was a bad one, for the clouds thickened and before the players could get to the club house the dainty little droplets were coming down "right smartly." And then, all the players had to do was to stand around and eat peanuts, swap yarns and wait three-quarters of an hour for a car to take them back to town.

Owner Jones says he never saw any to town.

Owner Jones says he never saw any weather like this since he began to count the seasons. He says that he has so many games postponed in St Joe and some of the other towns that if he would begin playing the minute he landed in these towns and continued until the last train out, he could hardly catch up with the schedule.

Both Jones and Savage are in favor of some kind of an arrangement by which some of the games can be played after the 6th of September, the date set for the closing of the season. Savage says he thinks it would be a good plan for the club owners to go into an agreement now whereby any two teams that were fighting for a final berth could play out their postponed games after the closing, if they so desired and if it was found that all desired and if it was found that all of them could not be squeezed into the regular schedule.

The only way you could know Mac is as much a "vet" as he is would be by an examination of his hands. The scars of many a hurt decorate the old faithful mits, and to say that every finger has been knocked forty ways for Sunday would be putting it mild. But such scars are the rewards that come to all who do their time in the Ollie Pickering, who was a member of the Cleveland Naps a decade ago. is probably the oldest ball player of prominence in the game today. Although nearly fortyone, Pickering was selected in proference to several young stars.

On Monday, May 31st, we published an editorial (in connection with a merchandise advertisement), which we reprint here in order that you may see now that that remarkable sale is ended, that we have kept faith with you on all statements made at that time.

And alongside of that editorial I want to place another one expressive of our appreciation for the loyalty of our customers to this store and the fine spirit of helpfulness you have shown in assisting us to get what we wanted-$100,000.00, by July 1st.

We feel that you who have made this possible are entitled to know just how much money we have taken in during the 26 business days of June and frankly and without equivocation state the amount as totaled after yesterday's business:

$103,470.32

When we closed our doors last night at 10 o'clock, there was ended a most unusual merchandise event. Not alone as to the amount of sales that were made, but in the idea of cooperation between our customers and their store, which has been displayed continuously.

Charge accounts will be reinstated today, and we hope that you will again take advantage of this part of our service. We appreciate the trouble our customers who had charge accounts with us have taken to make checks and bring money to us (just to help us), and in return we will try and be more helpful in our every service in the future.

I will admit that when at the beginning of the sale we stated that we wanted to get $100,000.00 by July 1st, it seemed a thing almost impossible to my mind, but now that it has been accomplished it seems a great achievement and certainly shows the financial prosperity of our city and its citizens. During the thirty or more years that I have been engaged in the Dry Goods business in Topeka, there has never been an advertisement published, to my knowledge, that means so much to the entire buying public of this portion of the state of Kansas, tributary to Topeka, as the news from The Big Store that occupies the two pages of the State Journal

This is not a special sale in the sense that a few items have been selected from some departments and special prices made on those few items offered. But this is a most unusual sale in that the merchandise in all of our 22 departments is presented for your selection at the lowest prices that goods of similar high quality have been previously sold for or can profitably be sold for anywhere.

There will be only a few exceptions to this general rule, such as Phoenix hosiery, Warner, Thomson, W. B., Nemo and Modart Corsets; Colgate's and Hudnut's, Palmer's, Melba, Djer Kiss toilet goods; Crane's pound paper, and Ingersoll watches, which are contract goods. Therefore you can come here confidently expecting to find what you want and when found that it will be priced less than you could reasonably expect.

It's true that we want to sell one hundred thousand dollars worth of merchandise by July 1st. And it's also true that sometimes it is necessary to go through ordeals to achieve

We realize that it would be impossible to accomplish this in the time specified had we not, in the Big Store, a great stock of goods for our customers, and were willing to sacrifice our legitimate profits as the comparative prices mentioned in this paper indicate. Our charge customers who have favored us with their accounts have always been highly appreciated and we would not willingly do anything to inconvenience them, but during this sale we desire their co-operation and help in carrying out the new rule that we are establishing for the month of June, viz: The suspension of all charge accounts and goods on approval, rebates and discounts.
